WE ARE COMMONLY ASKED THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS BELOW

How did you measure my roof without going on it?

Third party subscription data services supply us with high resolution aerial imagery. As so, we can confidently measure your roof with remarkable dimensional accuracy. These images give us 98% of what we need to see and price you right. Technology is wonderful!

Who measured the roof?

John Kirinic, our owner, measured your roof using one of the services mentioned above. After measuring thousands of roofs this way, he has a pretty strong grasp of the variables commonly encountered on residential roofs. He is available for a chat if you desire.

Why didn't you measure my garage or shed?

We only measure the predominant structure needing new shingles because we saw it. Let us know which additional structures to measure and we'll get that to you by email. If you'd prefer a site visit to discuss your project, we'd be happy to do that as well.

Is my pricing accurate and the price I pay?

We priced this project assuming the roof slope (steepness) specified on the front of this proposal is correct. If the verified slope varies from what has been indicated and warrants lower projected costs, we'll adjust your price. No questions asked!

Which shingle should I choose?

All the products we presented are excellent, field tested, and backed by comprehensive manufacturer warranties. Installations meet manufacturer specifications and local building code requirements. We'd be very happy to guide you with your selection.

Is Bahn Projects reputable?

We've been in business for many years and have earned admirable reviews on Google and with the Better Business Bureau. We'd be happy to send over a list of completed projects in your vicinity for you to view, just let us know?
